

APPROVED ARCHITECT INSPECTORS LIST – CARLISLE DIOCESE

Carlisle Diocesan Advisory Committee

List of approved Architects and Surveyors

We are grateful to all contractors who help us maintain our buildings, and especially to the Architects and Surveyors on this list. They do a tremendous job in advising us and helping us look after our buildings: they should be included in the prayers of the church from time to time.

The DAC is required to keep a list of Architects and Surveyors who are appropriately qualified to do Quinquennial Inspections of Churches. So inclusion on this list indicates that the DAC have checked qualifications etc, but is not a guarantee of quality of work nor a recommendation from the DAC; we are not in a position to give such guarantees or recommendations. This list is refreshed every four years: ie 2020, 2024, etc.

In some situations (especially where the Church is Grade I listed) PCCs appointing Architects should be looking for additional specialist qualifications – and may need to ensure that the Architect is a qualified Conservation Architect.

The appointment of an Architect or Surveyor is a key decision for a PCC and there are two separate documents available about this: a shorter (one side of A4) document and a longer document; but in brief:

- the Archdeacons are happy to support PCCs in making these appointments;
- you may also wish to consult neighbouring PCCs – in your Mission Community, Deanery or even more widely in the Diocese – about their experience;
- you may wish to ask several Architects or Surveyors or their practices to tender, by submitting portfolios of their work, and then coming to interview;
- PCCs appoint a specific Architect or Surveyor, not the practice;
- the cost of Quinquennial Surveys may seem high to small parishes but most Architects report that they do not make money on doing them – on the whole they are doing us a favour rather than the other way round;
- the key factor in appointing an Architect or Surveyor is a good professional relationship between PCC and Architect or Surveyor.

Signed:

Lily Hopkins, Chair of DAC

Richard Pratt, Archdeacon of West Cumberland
