

Safeguarding in the Diocese of Carlisle:

The Church of England is committed to safeguarding as an integral part of the life and ministry of the Church. In the Diocese of Carlisle, it is a key priority that we work together towards achieving our common vision, our commitment to a positive safeguarding culture, so that all our churches and worshipping communities can be places which are safer for everybody as well as being places of welcome. Our Diocesan Safeguarding Team (DST) is the key element in delivering on this commitment. We are the driving force to bring about the highest standards of safeguarding and providing advice and guidance to all who need it and support to victims and survivors of abuse.

The Diocese of Carlisle consists of three archdeaconries, 11 rural deaneries, 235 parishes and Carlisle Cathedral. Each parish is governed by its own Parochial Church Council (PCC) which is responsible for safeguarding at a local level. Carlisle Cathedral is governed by its Chapter which has responsibility for safeguarding there. In seeking to be open and welcoming, we recognise that within our congregations, a wide range of individuals may include those who have been victims of abuse, those who may be experiencing abuse and those who have perpetrated abuse against others. The DST provides advice, guidance, and resources to our parishes, and the Cathedral, to promote our safeguarding culture, ensure adherence to legislation and policy, monitors risk, and actively manages safeguarding concerns.

The pace of change in safeguarding in the Church of England context is high. The Church is working hard to create new safeguarding structures that address past failures and ensure future confidence in safeguarding arrangements and decisions. We now have National Safeguarding Standards that provide structure for our delivery of services. The Diocese of Carlisle has undergone an independent safeguarding audit, led by INEQE Safeguarding Group, in the past 18 months and they measured our compliance against the standards. INEQE concluded that the safeguarding arrangements within the Diocese of Carlisle have improved significantly in recent years. They say that “the culture is healthy, safeguarding is prioritised, support is valued and individuals across the Diocese feel able to report, question and challenge.” However, they also found that the DST required additional resourcing to continue building upon the foundations developed. In response to this, the DST has recruited and embedded additional team members in addition to our freelance trainer team. However, we are now requiring an additional key team player to support our mission of providing a safer church for all.
